One last hurdle for the farmers, before they start pumping water, is to remove the water lilies from canals, to prevent damage to the pumps.

As of 5pm Monday afternoon, there was still no solution to the Devers Canal System dilemma. Meetings were held yesterday by conference call, as the Directors of Devers Rice Producers Association tried to iron out details that would allow the San Jacinto River Authority to purchase the canal system's water rights, and operate the system this year. The details of complex negotiations are not being made public at this time, and those close to the situation are hoping for an answer sometime today. Jimmy Davis, one of the rice growers that gets water from the canal system, said that he would plant rice if the system was put into operation within 10 days. Otherwise, Davis said he will plant soybeans. More discussions are expected today.

The Liberty Fire and Police Departments and Texas Game Warden, Dwight Esmonds, had to use a boat to rescue Mickey Baker, of Dayton. Baker's boat capsized in the Trinity River, near the railroad bridge, around noon Monday. Swift currents of the rising river caused Baker to get caught in a log jam, and his boat capsized. Liberty Police Sgt. Ricky Skarpa, and Officer David Allison helped Esmonds pull Baker from the river. Baker sat on a log for about 25 minutes before being rescued. Baker's was not injured, and his boat was later recovered.
